

Exploring experiences of loneliness

Would you like to take part in research to develop a new web resource about experiences of loneliness?

Taking part in the study will involve being interviewed about your experiences of loneliness. We are particularly interested to hear from people who have received some kind of support around being lonely.

The study findings will be published on www.socialcaretalk.org a new website developed by university researchers to enable people to share their experiences of loneliness. On the website you will be able to read, hear or watch people describing their experiences.

These real-life stories can support others going through similar experiences and help train social care students and other professionals to better understand the impact of loneliness.

We would like to talk to people who have experienced loneliness, either now or in the past. If you would like to take part, a researcher will come to interview you at your home or elsewhere if you prefer. It could be by phone or online if that is easier for you. After the interview we will give you a shopping voucher to say thank you for your time.

For more information on taking part, please contact

Melina Malli

✉ Address: Medical Sociology & Health Experiences Research Group, Nuffield Department of Primary Care Health Sciences, University of Oxford, Radcliffe Observatory Quarter, Oxford, OX2 6GG

☎ Telephone: (mobile) 07716226179

✉ Email: melina.malli@phc.ox.ac.uk

SCT poster/flyer
Exploring experiences of loneliness and improving social care support
IRAS ID 279458
Chief Investigator: Dr. Sara Ryan

Version/Date: V1.0 14.07.2020

Ethics Ref: 20/WM/0223